Another Horrible Suicide-The Result of Domestic Difficulties. A correspondent of the Sullivan County Republican, under date of Rockland, March 14th, says: "John Hendrix, a laborer in this town, for several days past has been laboring under the most interse excitement in consequence of an alleged, or real, intimacy between his wife and one James Evans. Hendrix claimed to have satisfied himself of the delir quencies of his wife about a week ago, when he broke up housekeeping, prepared himself with a double barreled pistol, and went in persuit of Evans, for the purpose of "rindicating his wounded honor" according to the most approved rules adopted by genilegard to a change of words in one part of my men in difficulties of that character. On Sunday he traveled the roads with his ing up at hight at the house of Isanc B. Gray. exhibited to her his pistol, and permitted her night, exacting a promise that she would return it to him in in the morting. This morning she returned him the pistol, when he requested her to make his shroud of material which he had purchased for that purpose, and to see that he was burled beside a child which he had recently lost, in a grave near by; then kissing his daughter, bidding her to be a "good girl," and bidding his wife adieu, he walked out a few paces in front of the door, and in the presence of his wife and child discharged the contents of the pistel into his brain, when he fell a lifeless corpse."
